

CyTEA Annual Conference

Development of Transversal Competencies: Current educational realities

12-13 November 2022

CALL FOR PAPERS

We are happy to announce the CyTEA Annual Conference 2022 which is going to be held at Tassos Papadopoulos building, Cyprus University of Technology on November, 12-13. Academics, teachers, MA & PhD students, researchers, experts & practitioners in the field of Language Teaching, are cordially invited to submit their papers.

The rise of globalisation has highlighted the role of formal education and training systems in equipping the new generation with the right competencies, that is, the skills, knowledge, values, and attitudes essential for the successful integration in today's interconnected workforce. These competencies, termed as 'Transversal Competencies' (TCs), form an integral aspect of the curricula in different educational contexts and levels worldwide. This two-day conference aims at bringing together language teachers, language teacher educators, policy makers, curriculum designers, and researchers to discuss and share their experiences as to which competencies are considered essential in the different educational contexts where they work, how these are implemented in the language classroom, which approaches / tools are used for the assessment of these competencies, and how teachers are prepared and supported to include them in their teaching.

If you are interested in presenting at the conference, we are seeking paper, workshop and poster presentations, as per the instructions following. Please note that the issues discussed at the conference are not limited to the learning and teaching of English as a foreign/second language but to ANY foreign language.

We hope you will consider participating in this exciting conference!
